Mrs. Legan, on "Official Effiquence".

Mrs. General Legan contributes to 7% Chandrowen for February an article on "Official Effiquence at Washington." This is Mrs. Legan's first contribution to magazine literature. The article was on the present the time of General Legan's death. We quote the closing paragraph:

"Representatives from every part of the country being called he're by Congress and other officials connected with our National Government and foreign relations, it is natural that a cosmopolites scorely should exist. And yet so well-tired are most persent that a cosmopolites contributes of any complaint of real-most professions that have the arbor that you rarely hear of lagrant off-cases against politeness, or of any complaint of real-mess from our residual representatives of fereign counts against the people with whom they exchange civilities. The Lave had quite as much occasion to criticles come of the numbers of their own corps for bad conduct and had manners as they have Americans. Taken altogether, Americans have to cevasion to be asbaned of their country men or women or of the standard of, social off-quite at the National Capital." The Montain Governorship. Delegate Toole of Montain has received a number of letters and numerous newspaper clippings containing resolutions, all expressing great dissatisfaction with the appointment of Mr. Leslie, a non-resident, to the Governorship. The promises of the Demoratic | lattern had loof the people to expect the appointment of a resident.
